GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK

ROSEBEN'S DEFEAT DUE TO CROWDING AT THE POST.

Big Train Makes His First Bow, but Is Unplaced and Dave Johnson Loses a Wager-Narrow Escape for Jockeys Notter and Flynn-Red Bonnet Is Shot.

There were several excellent reasons for the defeat of Roseben in the second race at Aqueduct yesterday. The Big Train had worked so well that Frank Weir said that barring accidents he would come home alone and on the strength of this advice Dave Johnson plumped down a good sized wager. Roseben, with 130 pounds on his back, was lowered in the odds from 5 to 2 to 8 to 5, but when he came out of the paddock he lboked just a trifle high in flesh. It was his first appearance in a race since he was stricken with blood poisoning last fall and for a time it was believed that he could not recover, but his deeds of the past had not been forgotten and as soon as it was learned that Johnson was betting money all the smart men went to the son of Ben Strome with supreme confidence.

He had the rail position at the post and when the barrier went up he broke with his usual alacrity, but Berry Maid and King Cobalt started off with a terrific turn of speed and cutting over in front of Roseben they shut him off and knocked him back. Thrown completely out of his stride Roseben, therefore, lost much ground and was five lengths behind Berry Maid, the pacemaker, when he reached the bend in the track. Then Shaw took him to the outside and the great sprinter proceeded to make up some of the lost ground, but the task was a hopeless one because of the smashing pace, so at the last furlong pole Shaw took hold of the big fellow and sensibly eased him up. After the race there was a rumor that Roseben, who went to the post with blinkers, came back to the scales without them, but this was not in accordance with the facts. Weir said that while Roseben's race had not come up to his expectations, the racer had received a rough deal just after the start. This was also the opinion of several close observers who saw what happened after the release of the barrier. Roseben will start again soon and will probably run a much better race, a fact that the public will not Berry Maid went up in the odds half a point to 7 to 2 and was all out to beat the speedy King Cobalt, who was passed up at 12 to 1. Red River, who ran third, was stead ily taken at 4, while Besom went up to 5, and the overrated Horace E. was lowered from 10 to S. Roseben gave fourteen pounds to Berry Maid, twenty-one to King Cobalt and fourteen to Red River, in addition to lumps of weight to the others.

There was a narrow escape from a fatal accident in the last race. Twelve horses faced the barrier, and as soon as they were sent away there was all kinds of rough riding. Mr. Keene's Red Bonnet, who opened at 5 to 2 but soared in the prices because she bled after her warm up, was knocked down in this jam and Raquel fell over her. Notter and Flynn were thrown headlong under the flying field, but both jumped up quickly. Notter was unhurt, save for a few bruises, but Flynn, after staggering off the track, fell unconscious on the grass. He was driven post haste to the jockeys' room in the starter's wagon, but he soon recovered.

Ht turned out that Red Bonnet, who did not move after her fall, had a broken leg and was suffering such agony that she was finally shot. She was a three-year-old chestnut filly by St. Simonian II-Reckon and was considered much. She was a half sister to the well known stallion Compute.

Triumph, a son of Plaudit-Dossie, was the best horse in this race and should have won on the bit. In order to get a price Garner. who has been in poor form so far, had the mount, and he did everything but fall off. He seemed afraid to take any charces and had Triumph under a hard pull all the way down the homestretch. The Plaudit gelding did not get away any too well in the first place, but in spite of his poor handling he raced un to the leaders under his own courage. The Schwartz Bros., Wall Street brokers had down a swell wager on Triumph and lost it, when with a competent jockey in the saddle a victory would have been scored The layers had a good laugh when Bill Daly's Hartford Boy won, as nobody bet on him. Fielder, who ran second, was lightly taken across the boards. There was a stiff play on P. J. Rainey's Black Bridge, backed from 7 to 4, while Danger, Tenakoe, Rosario, Raquel and Red Bonnet all contributed to the layera' satchels.

After equalling the track record for four furlongs in two races H. T. Griffin's Ben Brush filly Trance undertook to run half furlong further in the Woodhaven Stakes. She looked like a copper lined cinch and she was hammered down from evens to 7 to 10. This was because she had easily defeated Fitz Herbert in the Ozone Stakes with the same weight they carried in yesterday's affair. But Fitz Herbert, who had changed hands since that race, was a much different olt this time and proceeded to make Trance and a half furlongs, with Madrileno, El Oro look like a cheap selling plater. Fitz Herbert went up a point to 5 and got a generous play both ways. His form reversal caused a world of comment after the numbers had been

The smart speculators were right when they showed a preference for Big Chief over Blacksheep in the first race. Both opened at 9 to 5, but the former went up to 11 to 5, while the latter remained steady. The books had a life saver in Queen Marguerite, who was in much demand at 16 to 5. Carman did not bet a dollar on Prince of Castile, who ran third at 50, 10 and 5. The Prince is a gray gelding by Canopus and is another "white ghost."

Guy Burns is just beginning to see with his right eye. A foul tip off the bat in a ball game at the Bay closed the optic last Saturday morning, but Burns rode Rifleman, Tom Reid and Keator that day, all being defeated. He had the mount on Col. Jack in the handicap at six furlongs yesterday and possibly lid not see the gate go up, for his mount, favorite at 11 to 5, was as good as left. Col. Jack, at that, went back in the betting because of the very wise play on Aletheuo, who was backed heavily from 3 to 13 to A feature of this race was the reappearance of A. J. Then Poquessing was taken at 16 to 5, while Zal was backed steadily at 4 and Greeno was accepted at 8 three ways. Old Robador, warm tip, was reduced from 20 to 12. Zal showed more gameness than usual, but would have lost in another jump.

W. H. Du Bois announced yesterday that Nealon would not be a starter in the Excelsior Handicap, to be run at Jamaica to morrow. Trainer Frank Taylor told Du Bois yesterday that the famous Sain horse. won the Suburban, the Twin City and Municipal Handicaps last year, was within three days of a race, and as Du Bois did not care to have the public bet on Neslon unless he was absolutely fit he decided to keep him in the barn. He was hurrying to catch the horse train for the track when he slipped and cut his knee to the bone. He was carried to his home in a carriage and will be laid up several days. Fred Burlew saddled Wishard's horses at Aqueduct yesterday after-

Two years ago C. R. Ellison bought a yearing colt by Sir Dixon-Sallie of Navarre, a half brother to Salvidere, for $6,500 and named him Gov. Hughes. The Jockey Club asked him to select some other name out of respect for the Governor, se Ellison chose Sir Navarre. The colt did not amount to much last season and was sold recently for $50. He is now pulling a yam cart in Havana.

Trance had six lengths over the Newcastle Stable's Preceptor, 8 to 1, with Sam Emery's Erbet, 6 to 1, a length and a half back. The pleasant weather drew more than 10,000 to the track and a majority of them regarded Trance as a sure winner in this event. Her defeat, therefore, was a shock from which many were unable to recover during the rest of the afternoon. Demarest played a practice game with J. M. Millette last night at the Knickerbocker Academy, Brooklyn, and defeated him. The score was 300 to 103. Demarest averaged 14 6-21 and his high runs were 73, 70 and 55. GOOD MIXED DOUBLES. Mrs. MacCarthy and Larned Beat Mrs. Barger-Wallach and Wright.

In the semi-final matches in mixed double yerterday in the St. Nicholas rink the play was consistently very good. The first match was between teams composed of Miss Eleanor Sears and Robert D. Wrenn and Miss Juliet Adee and Raymond D. Little. Wrenn apparently hadn't been playing much of late. Little took the bulk of work off the hands of his partner and after a three set match was a winner. The first set was long drawn out, Miss Adee and Little winning it, 7--6. Then Miss Sears and her partner got working with greater smoothness and Wrenn's excellent service and his keen cross-courting, helped out by Miss Sears and sectiveness at the net, gave them the second set 6--1. In the third Little and partner ran up quickly to 5-2 and eventually won, 6-4.

Mrs. MacCarthy and her brother. William A. Larned, played better average tennis than Mrs. Barger-Wallach and Beals Wright in the other semi-final match. Wright played excellently, but he couldn't do it all. Mrs. MacCarthy was more useful than Mrs. Barger-Wallach, and it was a case of two hard fought sets, 5-6,7-5, before the Larned combination won.

The final round will be played between the was between teams composed of Miss Eleanor STIRRING MILE RUN INDOORS Hoffman of Paterson Wins by a Foot in St George A. C. Games.

The St. George A. C. held its annual indoor games in the Sixty-ninth Regiment armory last night and one of the best events on the programme was the mile run handloap. After a lap or two Adolph Hoffman of the Paterson, N. J., Y. M. C. A., who had 85 yards, went to the front and stayed there to the finish. About a hundred yards from home David Noble who ran unattached, came with a rush and just failed by a foot to catch the Jersey runner. William Bailey of the New York A. C. with 75 yards, was a good third.

A novel turn was given to the programme y the introduction of a mile walker. Sam Liebgold of the Pastime A. C. elected to defeat W. Allen of the Pastime A.C., and Louis Liebgold of the Irish A. A. C. each to walk half a Allen walked the first half against Sam, and the latter made a gain of about thirty yards. Then Louis took up where Allen left off, and he hoofed it along in great shape

An exceptionally fine field turned out for the 60 yard novice, and after a lot of trials and semi-finals it was won by R. T. Edwards of the Hudson Guild by about half a yard from A. Lauer, unattached, with Richard J. Jenkins of the Dominican Lyceum a close third. E. G. Ekman, a youngster of the Acorn A. A., showed first class form in the 65 yard handicap. With a start of 16 feet he romped away with the final heat from Ringwald of the St. Ann's A. C., who was in a similiar mark. Reed of the Gordon A. A., with 15 feet, was a good third.

COLUMBIA CREWS GETTING FIT. Practising Racing Starts New for Contest With the Middles.

The Columbia crews are starting on the final stretch in their training for the race with Annapolis which will be held on the Severn on May 9. Most of the training is still being done on the Harlem, and the time is taken up in practising racing starts and going along in half mile stretches at top speed. Yesterday both the first and second eights had a mile row against time, but the coach refused to give out the time of the trial. The men are all in good condition and have enough endurance for a good two mile spin, as most of the work up until a week or so ago was given over to long rows up the Harlem and out on the Hudson. The first boat seems to be especially strong and the men are row-to be especially strong and the men are rowing together in good style, even while they have the long kice stroke, at about 38.

As Helmrich, who has been rowing 7 in the second combination since the opening of the season, is ineligible to row in the Annapolis race he has been moved to the third boat. Hauser, who was at 3 in the second eight, has been shifted to fill Helmrich's seat and Weekes from the third boat, is rowing in Hauser's place. The loss of Helmrich will likely countagainst the Columbia men when they meet the Columbia men when they against the Columbia men when they weet the Middles second best, as he was one of the most powerful men in the boat and had the experience of a year in the 1906 varsity at Poughkeepsie. He is about twenty pounds heavier than Hauser, who rows better up in the bow.

Both the first and second eights will leave
New York on Friday morning, May 8, and reach Annapolis in time for a spin on the Severn the same evening. The shells will reach Annapons in time for a spin on the Severn the same evening. The shells will be shipped ahead on Thursday afternoon. Rice plans to give them another tryout on Saturday morning so that they will be thoroughly acquainted with the course. The rules governing the intercollegiate re-gatta at Poughkeepsie will be used.

vard. CAMBRIDGE, April 27 .- The largest squad of football players in the history of spring football practice at Harvard reported this afternoon to Coach Haughton and Capt. Burr afternoon to Coach Haughton and Capt. Burr on Soldiers Field. There were forty-aix men in all, and they were put through the more elementary parts of the game. Contrary to the usual custom the tackling dummy was not detachable, but after tackling it the men hung on until Coach Haughton had criticised their form. It will not be changed to the detachable dummy until the players have worked in this way for a few days longer. Burr Kennard, Fish and G. G. Browne, who won their "H," were all out for practice. The other veteran, Hoar, is expected out in a few days. The practice will last about three weeks. Toward the close a few formations will be run through.

NEW YORK (A. L.), 1; BOSTON (A L.), 0. Chesbro and Winter had a rare duel of aqueously conducted pitching at American League Park yesterday afternoon, and the cunning curving of the New Yorker was more successful than the Bostonian's. The New Yorks shut out the Bostonian's. The hitself them one of these hits." He called Winter safe on a bunt in the third inning when Chesbro's, assist was in Chase's hands before Winter reached the bag. Winter held the New Yorks to four hits and was hitproof in all but the sixth, in which the hilltoppers bunched three singles on him and made the hermit tally of the conflict. singles on him and made the hermit tally of the conflict. The pitching was high class, so nutch so that the scarcity of base hits made the game somewhat leaden, like the skies, but there was some exceedingly spruce fielding on both sides just the same.

The Bostons hit half a dozen balls that required only a small deviation in direction to make them hits instead of outs. They were hard driven balls, Keeler, Conroy, Elberfeld and Niles spearing smites that were coming to them on a line. Chase made a play that one sees once in a cycle. When Chase pulls off one of his inimitable pyrotechnical feats it is worth going miles to see and none can duplicate it. Gessler stung a screeching smash between first and second in the seventh inning. The ball had taken two bounds by the time it got to the bare space and was burning the air. Chase made some sort of a contortionist leap for the ball, got to it with the quickness of a cat and beat it down to the ground with his gloved hand. He held on to it, too, and when he had unravelled himself from his entangled position to contortionist leap for the part of the himself from his entangled position he tossed the leather to Chesbro for a putout. he tossed the leather to Chesbro for a putout.

Chesbro's pilening was not only litat class because few hits were forthcoming off it but it was finished in other details. The big chap had faultless control and showed not the slightest sign of streakiness or inconsistency. In the first inning neither side reached first base, such was the effectiveness of the anointed delivery as expounded pro and con. The Bostons did not see first until the third, when Chesbro missed Wagner's bunt. Chase gathered in Criger's foul and Winter bunted. According to Sheridan he beat the ball to first base. This put two on bases, but Thoney forced Wagner with a grounder to Chesbro, and Lord's grounder to Corroy forced Winter.

After that the Bostons went out in one, two, three order until the ninth inning, when McConnell supplianted Winter as master of the oaken bludgeon. He was safe on a hit that Elberfeld couldn't bandle. Thoney struck out, Chase's quick work on Lord's grounder forced McConnell at second and Lord subsided stealing. Barring Elberfeld, who got a respite in the third on Lord's fumble, not a New York player reached base until the sixth inning. The locals made the most of their chances when they did get on. Two were out when Niles singled between Wagner and Lord. Thoney let the ball get through him and Niles went to second. He scored on Keeler's safety to short left. The score:
